MUSIC FOR THE SOUL

www.phoenixchorale.org

Welcome to our 2009-10 Season!

This season we'll introduce you to a variety of talented composers who are today's modern choral masters. We're also spotlighting our first composer-in-residence, Ola Gjeilo. We've premiered and commissioned works from Ola previously, and this year we'll explore more of his dynamic and heartfelt music.

We kick everything off with two new special events in October (see our Special Events listings later in this brochure). Later that month, our concerts begin with "Modern Masters," featuring music by Eric Whitacre, Morten Lauridsen, Tarik O'Regan, and more.

We'll perform our popular annual holiday concerts in December, featuring the Sonoran Brass Quintet and in February, the season continues with a unique candlelit program titled "Darkness & Light."

We'll tour the Northwest in March, headlining the Northwestern ACDA Conference and share the stage with the Soweto Gospel Choir. And we'll close the season in May with "Amazing Grace II" with more bluegrass, spirituals, and hymns.

We're introducing pre-concert talks at Trinity Cathedral and, for the first time, program notes will be available online for your convenience prior to each concert.

We're continuing our series in the West Valley, our free Open Rehearsals during downtown Phoenix's monthly Artwalk, and our popular 25 & Under Free program.

Explore the following pages to discover what's in store for our 51st season – and join Arizona's Grammy Award-winning choir for another memorable and music-filled season!

Home for the Holidays

December 18-19-20-21-22

The Sonoran Brass Quintet joins the Chorale again this year for our annual holiday performances. This year's celebration features three Arizona premieres — British composer Cecilia McDowall's cantata Christus Natus Est with the Sonoran Brass Quintet and two by our composer-in-residence Ola Gjeilo, Alleluia and O Magnum Mysterium. The concerts also offer Arvo Pärt's Seven Magnificat Antiphons. And of course you'll hear family favorites, including "Silent Night" and your seasonal sing-alongs.

Darkness AND Light

February 21, 27, and 28

From darkness to light, the Phoenix Chorale explores the spectrum of emotions evoked in today's choral music - love, loss, spirituality, innocence, joy and beyond. These candlelit concerts feature music by Sir John Tavener, Morten Lauridsen, Eric Whitacre, Carlos Surinach, Vytautas Miškinis, James MacMillan and the world premiere of composer-in-residence Ola Gjeilo's newest work commissioned by the Phoenix Chorale. Experience the Phoenix Chorale by candlelight, on a journey of contemplative meditation and ethereal beauty.

“Orchestral and choral conductors often use noticeably different gestures. When Charles Bruffy led [this concert] . . . he seemed to be sculpturing in air; carefully molding each finely hued note he coaxed from his choristers.”
